

I am opposed to any changes in the do not call program. I feel as the my phone and the money I pay to phone company allow me to restrict who I want calling my home. For the people who get government money to pay their utilities let the telemarketers call them. Telemarketers are rude, surely, and bascially simple minded when told not to call back. Sorry that the companies who use the phone to torture people do not like out laws, however, considering the amount money we pay in taxes we should have a say.
